IOSS/ONCIX National Threat Symposium and Security Awareness Fair

December 1-2, 2004

Chantilly, Virginia

Please note that this year's event will be held at the National Reconnaissance Office headquarters in Chantilly, Virginia. This is the same informative and educational program that for the past few years has been held at the Applied Physics Laboratory in Laurel, Maryland.

Day #1 will be held at the unclassified level. It will consist of unclassified workshops arranged by the Interagency OPSEC Support Staff (IOSS), and the Security Awareness Fair, which is being coordinated by the Office of the National Counterintelligence Executive (ONCIX).

Day #2 will be a program of classified threat briefings being facilitated by the IOSS. Further details, when available, will be posted on <http://www.iaevents.com/>.

These two days of training, briefings, and networking, with a focus on operations security, intelligence, and threats to the U.S. National Security, will offer valuable opportunities for enhancing your awareness of these issues.

The workshops and threat briefings will be repeated at the IOSS's National Threat Symposium in Las Vegas, Nevada on 8-9 February 2005. For additional information on this event please visit <http://www.iaevents.com/>.
